

To change Contract Advertisements, notices must be given before Monday noon.

Our friends wishing to have advertisements inserted in the TIMES, must hand them in by Tuesday morning, 10 o'clock.

ADVERTISEMENTS will be inserted at a rate of one dollar and a half per square for the first insertion, and one dollar per square for each subsequent insertion.

Liberal terms made with those who desire to advertise for three, six, or twelve months.

Marriage notices and Obituaries charged for at advertising rates.

Henceforth, all Legal Advertisements, of County Interest, whether notices or others, will be published for the benefit of our readers whether they are paid for or not.

SUBSCRIBERS

Will have their papers regularly mailed. Send us new names, build up our paper, and let every household in the County be a supporter of our enterprise.

ADVERTISERS

Will find it specially to their interest to give us their cards. A conspicuous notice will attend each advertisement. To build up the interests of our merchants is the aim of the "Times."

"RUTH PINCH AND BROTHER TOM."

The simple story related by Dickens, of the proposal by Ruth, to make a "beefsteak pudding" for Brother Tom, is suggestive of more than the mere expected enjoyment of the dish. Ruth is inexperienced, though willing, to essay the menage, and fears a failure, but Tom lends cheering words and generous smiles. Ruth says "it may prove anything else."

Tom avers success; and at it Ruth goes.

What has Miss Pinch to do with the "Times?" enquires one and another of its readers.

Nothing more friends; than that she purposes to set before "Brother Tom" a savory dish, to repay that kind regard, which he lends with money and sympathy.

Well; and what has Tom to do with the "Times?" To do; he has everything to do; to retain his patient, good natured smile, to hold up his sister's willing hands; that he and she in the sympathy of riven ties, and obscurity, may live on to do good, and to enjoy the fruition of honorably acquired lives.

To-day; an expectant public await the appearance of our little sheet, having heard that a committee of four gentlemen (resolving themselves a Miss Pinch, a sudden, strange, and surprising transformation, we confess) will offer their patrons a reward for their support.

Dear Readers (Brother Tom we mean) smile on; you give us cheer, you lighten our burden, you hail us "Godspeed; may we work as one, the task is for mutual good. No sordid motive incites the effort. The waves of opposition beat madly around, the sky lowers with clouds of threatening, and but for the manly resistance of a few sentinels at the front who defy the onset, we, as a community, and a State, would be merged in the maelstrom of confusion, and sucked into the abysses of degradation.

Let us gather lessons from the precious fragment, if torn memories of other days, not to flaunt them before the vulgar gaze of scoffers, nor submit them to sneering revilers, but to cull therefrom models for emulation, and example, that we may better the present, with the glories of an ineffable past.

Differences of opinion must exist upon all subjects, and the candid mind to arrive at truth, should analyze and digest both sides of any question. Every theory has its ingenuous supporters, who act from a conviction of right, while it embraces others who are unwitting adherents, to what they do not understand, or are the creatures of mere influence.

therefore magnanimous, that we should be freed of prejudices and doubts, that our intellectual machinery may have full play to choose the right; and once honestly convinced; hold on to principle though the heavens should fall.

Whatever political differences existed prior to our late struggle for independence, have been settled by the arbitration of the sword. These we cannot, nor would we recall. We have to deal with the present. Its Hydra must be attacked; its virtues defended; where worth is found let it be acknowledged, and where vice is rampant, let it be exposed.

The party lines drawn in South Carolina now are too palpable to be unobserved by the most indifferent eye. Here, on one side stand the virtue, intelligence, and property, represented in the white population, degraded by a tyranny of fraud and injustice. And here in all the fullness of venality, stand a crowd, surfeited with malignity, and ill-gotten gain, who hie on the car of oppression, defiant of justice and honor, while ignorance raises its cry of babblement over the ruin that is made.

Party lines shall not confine the discretion of this paper. All parties have their blots and blemishes, but this we do affirm, that the "Times," having arrayed itself against the enemies of honesty, with other papers of our State, and having ably vindicated its course thus far, we lift the pen of its late Editor, and shall continue the line of defense he so well maintained.

Controversy, personalities, and the banding of words shall be ignored. Our aim is peace, and the public weal. Yet, as South Carolinians, we have a heritage to sustain, and a record to perpetuate, and should the honest denunciation of wrong, fall upon guilty heads, and provoke enmity, let the reward be gleaned by the sower of the seed. To remain silent is to give a tacit support to evil doers.

The material prosperity of the State, the intellectual advancement of its citizens of any race or color, the fostering of unity, and kind feeling, is our desire. To effect these, we shall endeavor to enlighten as we know.

The past seven years have placed this State in a most unenviable plight. Why? because the best of its rulers were steeped in shame and disgrace. Immigration has been frightened away, to fields less propitious of success. The financial credit of the State is a laughing stock, its securities are moribund, and the stability of its laws a myth. Its halls of legislation, its juries, and courts, excited only derision and contempt. Shame, that the nineteenth century should write a farce so ludicrous, and that, too, upon the arena, where a Hayne, a McDuffie, and a Calhoun, loaned their matchless genius to the pages of historic wisdom.

But we have the promise of reform and retrenchment. We are told that our abuses will be corrected. We await the fulfillment, and stand ready to say "Well done," with the people. Let the Augean stables be cleansed; let the executives in every department be brought to a strict rendition of duty; let the public good be promoted, and confidence, and harmony prevail; and we will raise the plaudit of praise to our rulers, though our political creeds are as opposite as the antipodes.

With this debut we pledge ourselves the friends of good government, and the counsellors of peace.

THE "NEWS"

Tenders its greetings of kind feeling and courtesy. We accept as public servants the gratulation, and hope that in submitting our opinions to the public, there will be a mutual aim on the part of either to advance the interests of the County at large. As ships upon the broad highway of trade, may we be ever ready to exchange a friendly longitude. And as the promoters of peace, may we steer clear of, or pour hot shot into the lockers of all "Skull and cross bones" craft.

JAS. S. HEYWARD, ESQ.

In retiring from the Editorial chair of the "Times," this gentleman carries with him the best wishes of a host of friends, who cannot permit him to resign without that expression of appreciation he so well deserves. Mr. Heyward's talents, and time will be given to the Academy, under the charge of Mr. Mellichamp, and himself. We wish him, sincerely, happiness and profit.

BISHOP LYNCH.

The lecture of this venerable and able divine, recently delivered in New York, sustains the reputation of the Bishop, as a ripe scholar, and profound thinker. When called before an audience, his lips drop pearls of wisdom. The pure life of this great and good man, and his deep store of learning ensure an universal respect. Charleston has been a beacon light to a world, in its representatives of theology, law, and medicine.

THE COLLECTION OF TAXES

This year has been made more promptly, and with less wrangling than heretofore. This is a welcome improvement. The list of defaulters will be small. We hope that the large number of pay certificates, and other vouchers, which have been depreciated to a fearful loss on the part of holders to effect a sale, will now come to light from the pockets of shavers and rid the County of a huge debt. Let Orangeburg County paper be worth a hundred cents to the dollar. Its contracts legalized by the signature of its officers, should not be banded from hand to hand. The payee is best entitled to its full value.

THE NEW TAX LEVY.

We observe that a new tax of two (2) mills on the dollar is to be collected shortly from our people, in addition to the 15 1/2 mills tax, just paid. This, it is stated, is to meet past indebtedness of the county.

We are sorry for those who have had to borrow money (and their name is legion) to pay the last tax, but we advise all to make their arrangements at once to pay.

We cannot counsel resistance to any tax, lawfully imposed, but in the name of those who suffer from the recklessness of men in high places, we protest against any repetition of past extravagance. By all means, let us have no more S. C.—Court House fences!

My sole purpose in retiring from journalism, and selling out my interest in the Times, is to be able to devote myself entirely to my Academic duties. It is my purpose to establish and build up a large Academy in Orangeburg. This is an institution, the want of which is greatly felt in this community. Mr. Styles R. Mellichamp and myself have established an Academy in your midst as a permanent thing and I bespeak in our behalf your very kind patronage which I have always appreciated.

Our present Academy we regard as but the beginning of what we propose. I started last January with five scholars. Our school numbers over forty, and we have had at times over fifty. We desire to get over one hundred scholars. Such schools have been here before this, and we cannot see why they should not be again. To this purpose we shall devote our entire efforts and ask encouragement and patronage of the public generally.

Respectfully,
JAMES S. HEYWARD.

The Laurensville Herald says a canal is projected from Nashville, Tenn., via Greenville, S. C., to Augusta, Ga. This enterprise will benefit Greenwood vastly.

The Aiken Tribune is well commended by several of its exchanges, for moderation, and enterprise. These qualities are both needed at this juncture. Wrangling only chafe an old sore, and prevents that healing of wounds, which widens the gulf already too wide.

The Rural South Carolinian for February, continues to be the leading agricultural of the South. Its pages are well stored with first-class matter.
